DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. In light of the amendment filed 05/2004, the rejection of claim 7 and 9, 10, 12-19 under 5 U.S.C. 112, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter, is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claims 3-10 and 12-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 101 because the disclosed invention is inoperative and therefore lacks utility.
4. The method and apparatus as claimed are well known in the art for directing electron beams in applications such as electron beam lithography system and it is known that No antigravitational effects occur. Such effects would have disrupted the operation of such a system. The electron gravitation mass has been measured at $m = 9.11 \times 10^{-31}$ kg and is known to be three dimensional spherical shell, Not two-dimensional plane wave. Therefore, the gravitational mass and the space-time curvature of the electrons are Not affected by the electric, magnetic and/or electromagnetic fields disclosed by applicant.

5. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

6. The specification is objected to under 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, as failing to provide an enabling disclosure as explained above. Claims 3-10 and 12-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, for the reasons set forth in the objection to the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

8. Claims 3-10 and 12-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by WO 90/16073 (Mills) 12/1990. Mills discloses a method of providing a repulsive force from a gravitating mass comprising the steps of: providing an element of matter; forming said element of matter into negative curvature wherein a repulsive force away from said gravitating mass is created; applying energy from an energy source to said element of matter having negative curvature; applying a field from a field source to said element of matter having negative curvature; receiving the repulsive force on said field source from the said element of matter in response to the force provided by said gravitating mass and said element of matter (see claims).

9. Claims 3-10 and 12-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by WO 95/32021 (Mills) 11/1995. Mills discloses a method of providing a repulsive force from a gravitating mass comprising the steps of: providing an element of matter; forming said element of matter into negative curvature wherein a repulsive force away from said gravitating mass is created; applying energy from an energy source to said element of matter having negative curvature; applying a field from a field source to said element of matter having negative curvature; receiving the repulsive force on said field source from the said element of matter in response to the force provided by said gravitating mass and said element of matter (see claims).

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments filed 05/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that the invention fully complies with Section 101, the examiner maintains that the method and apparatus being claimed is well known in the art for directing electron beams in applications such as electron beam Lithography system. Accordingly it is also well known that No antigravitational effects occur. Applicant's argument that the amendment filed 05/2004 overcomes the rejection over W090/16073 and WO9532021. The WO documents qualify under 35 U.S.C 102(b) and discloses almost identical claims as presented by applicant. Even in light of the amendment to the claims, all of the elements are disclosed in the cited documents. The amendment of changing the term "element of matter" to read "electron" does not overcome the reference since such limitations are presented in the cited references (claims 1 and 2). Accordingly the rejections of claims 3-10 and 12-20 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by WO 90/16073 (Mills) 12/1990 and/or WO 95/32021 (Mills) 11/1995 stand.

Conclusion

11. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
